GENERAL MARKET REVIEW. MONEY MATTERS.

market, the New York Bulletin gives these views: As to foreign exchange, there is reason to believe that we are on the eve of lower rates, for early in August bills will begin to REVIEW OF THE HOME MARKETS be drawn in anticipation of cotton exports, WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE INDIANAPOLIS and the sup ly from this source will nerease until the cotion crop is marketed. At the moment, however, there is very little exchange offering, and the heaviness of the on change and holders of provisions held their market is because the demand is even below the supply. The reasons which exist for lower exchange in the early future may be cited in favor of lower gold; and they would undoubtedly be operative, but for the would undoubtedly be operative, but for the fact that the "shert" interest in gold week past. Over a Krag say of the grocery is very large, all the triends of the syndicate trade: Since the review of last week there have having put out sales freely, and the general temper of speculation being decidedly hearish. While this is one obstacle to much of a decline, the steady pursuance of the policy of hoarding gold by the Bank of France, is against much of a decline in gold here. For, from obvious reasons the Back of France draws most of its coin accumulations from the Bank of England, as is witnessed by the figures of the past week, the loss of the one having nearly tallied with the gain of the other. There is no reason for believing that other. There is no reason for believing that [Quotations are given for the buying prices of the Bank of France will cease drawing gold grain and produce, and the selling prices for tra, 83 50. from London; and if it does not the indirect flour and other merchandise.] influence on the premium here will be sustaining.

r-Ocean is thus hopeful: Much interest is felt in the probable condition of the money market this fall and winter. We see no reason why money should not be more abundant than for many years past at that season. The movement of the crops will, of course, require a large amount of currency, and the packing of pork will de-mand a large amount of bank credit; but the eastern money markets are not loaded Fancy brands, for new down with unreliable railroad bonds, as they have been for many years past, until the pame of last fail drove them out of the the pame of last fall drove them out of the MILL FEED-In fair supply. Editorially the Bulletin says, of the prosdemand for dry goods has now fairly commenced, and the season opens under generally favorable auspices. Merchants from all sections of the country are present in the market in large numbers, and the preponderance of opinion is in favor of a healthy, safe and profitable, if not particularly large, autumn business. Stocks in the hands of demand will be settled on the part of their sole customer for Wheat, Great Britain. The prices below are those of J. R. Budd & Co., and are unchanged from last week. This question is this year of unusual importance, because we have more wheat to sell than ever before, and because the grow ers have apparently determined to take the risks of the market on their own account It is always a hazard to export on speculation and it is doubly so after a period of shor crops, when high prices baving stimulated production in all countries of supply, and favorable season gives effect to the extended enterprise. Heretofore, when the wheat crop was sold and delivered here the matter, as far as Catifornia was concerned was at an end. The fate that attended the cargoes after they passed through the Golden Gate awaken no anxiety here, because whatever of loss or gain might befall their on arrival inured only to the foreign owner of the cargo. This year, however, the farm ers seem determined to assume risks them selves, and consequently the state of th weather abroad and the fluctuations of the foreign markets will have an interest here not before so directly felt. LUMBER TRADE OF THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

The St. Paul Press, in giving a history o the city of Stillwater, Minn., and its expanding prospects, presents some very interesting facts regarding the lumber trade. A great corporation, known as the St. Croix Boom Company, was organized some year ago, and a boom was constructed for the purpose of sorting the logs as they floated past, and delivering to the rightful owners' logs bearing their own "marksf" In reviewing the trade of the past few weeks sales are fully up to those of the corresponding weeks of shingles, and 88,063 976 feet of lumber. The number of logs received from the St. Croix Boom Corporation during the season of 1873 was 732,619, measuring 166,163,628 feet, averaging 225 feet per log. For the season of 1872 the total was 905,585 logs, measuring 203,382 312 feet. The total value of the log and lumber trade for the season of 1873 amounted to $2,031,996, against $2,199,600 for the season of 1872, and $2,122,139 in 1871. During 1873 the total production was as fol-

The purchases were made by Mr. Ayres in person, who remains in New York the cathre season and buys only when the goods are the right kind and quality, and the prices are the very lowest that cash can obtain. Up to the present time 12 dead bodies have been recovered, eight being those of white persons and four Chinamen. It is thought that several others will yet be found in the piles of rubbish which extend for miles in the direction of Diamond Valley, Owing to the washing away of the stage road, no mail left this place vesterday. To the shame of some of our hoodlams it must be said that theft, even from dead bodies, and drunkenness, with violence, prevailed to some extent. Trunks that contained money were found, but the contents were As a set-off to these evil deeds, It is gratifying to be able to state that the company controlling the lumber business here has taken no advantage whatever of the calamity as an excuse for enhancing prices.
